

Parenting A Challenge?
Difficulty Connecting With Your Adolescent?

Does this image look familiar? Are you struggling to communicate with your teen? Is your teen not doing well in school or hanging out with the “wrong” crowd? Do you know or suspect that your teen is using drugs or alcohol? Are you worried they may be engaging in other risky behaviors such as unsafe sex or that they may be depressed or anxious? Do you feel disconnected from your teen and shut out of their lives? Do you wish your teen would come out of their room more?

Come join Carly Baker, MSW, LICSW for an 8 week therapeutic support group. Parents will learn methods to communicate with their teen in an effective way that promotes cooperation, understanding, and family harmony. Come share your experiences and hear other parents/guardians who are navigating the rough waters of raising adolescents...

Group will begin Tues, May 5th from 6:45pm-8pm(*meeting every other week for the 8 weeks)
